Types

There are two types of IELTS:

- 1) IELTS Academic
- 2) IELTS General Training

IELTS Academic

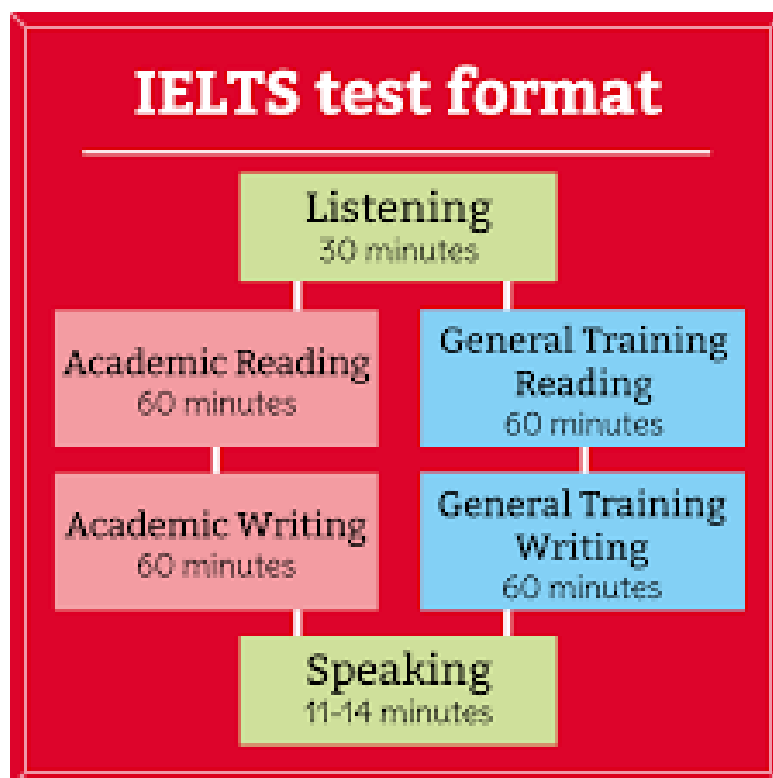

If you wish to gain admission into a college or university or study abroad then you are required to take the Academic version of the test.

IELTS General Training

If you or any of your family members are planning to move abroad then the social interaction and communication skills would be assessed through the General Training version. Also, this test is required when the workplace needs to check your language proficiency level.

Duration

The total IELTS Test is 2 hours 45 minutes

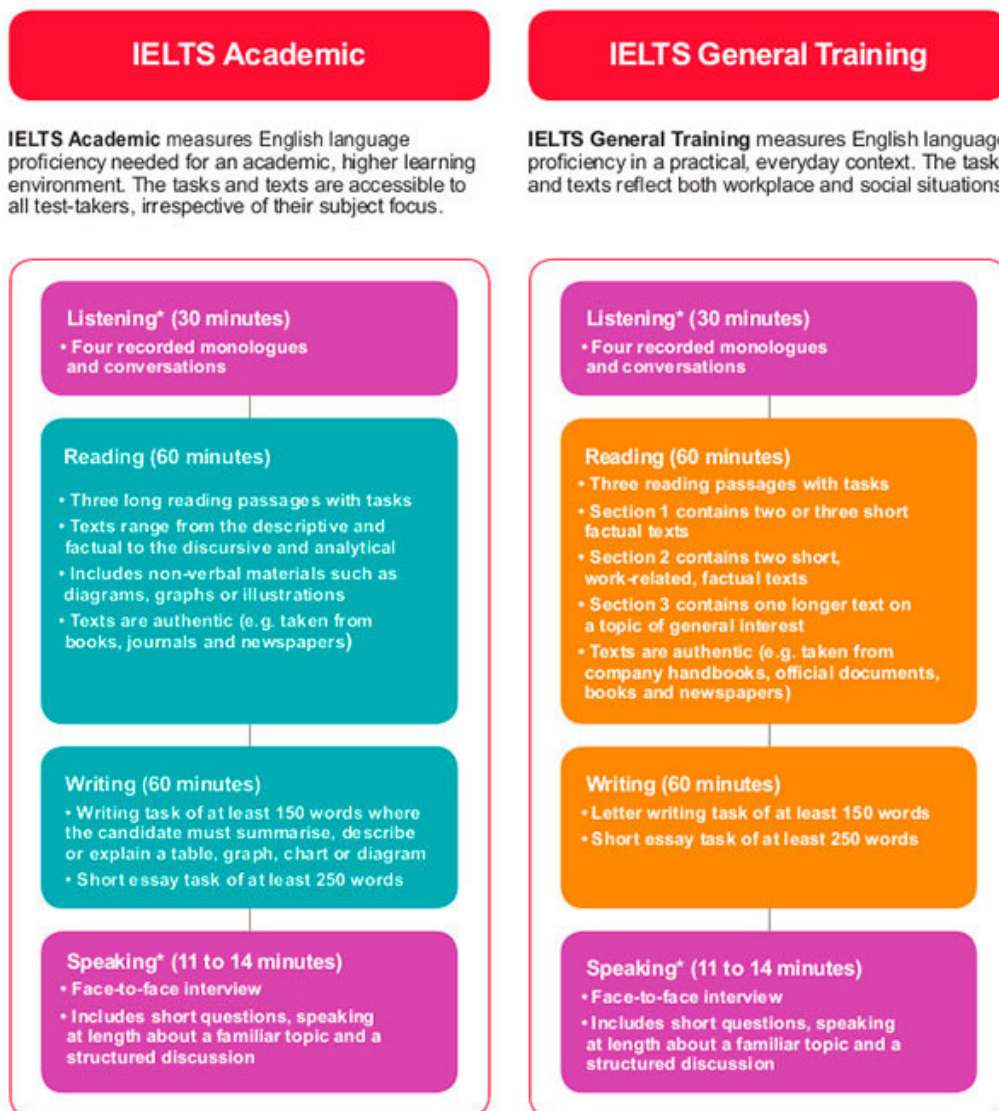

Same Day - Listening, Reading and Writing sections are completed one after the other.

Speaking Test - A different day and time is allocated for the speaking test

IELTS Academic VS IELTS General Training

*The Listening and Speaking components are the same for both versions.
